INTRODUCTION

In addition to the clinical personnel, a research team may include a number of support staff who recruit participants, take informed consents, counsel participants, transport participants, carry out laboratory procedures, capture data, etc. It is imperative that this category of staff understands the concept of research on human subjects, the guidelines that govern the conduct of this research, the roles of the study team and the importance of their role in the greater team.

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course is a revision of Good Clinical Practice principles and processes for all non -clinical support staff who have previously attended GCP training. The course is interactive and discussion around current issues is encouraged.

COURSE CONTENT

- Good Clinical Practice Overview
- GCP Audits and Inspections
- Research Involving Genetic Studies
- Litigation in Clinical Trials
